This event features an inspirational speaker who will provide a glimpse into their working and personal lives, as well as how they support the industry.

Our guest speaker is Debbie Nicholson with Think-to-INK! She is a Wide-Format Printing Consultant, National and International Columnist (writing for three print publications), Key-Note Speaker, and MasterClass Educator.

Debbie's (undeniable) spirited passion is to help printing companies (large and small) recognize their un-tapped customer potential. Debbie aligns companies to excel by integrating knowledge, continual education, creativity, and a deep awareness of industry changes.

Debbie has 30+ years of experience in printing as an owner and consultant (i.e., wide-format printing, color separations, design, digital printing, sublimation, and off set printing). This experience affords her a broad stroke of proven finishing solutions that enhance and sustain products in various graphic environments.

Most importantly, Debbie's greatest passion and intent is to encourage, engage, and mentor Women in Print. She feels blessed to have helped pave the way for women. Debbie grew up in the print world where women could only work in administrative positions – with zero growth opportunities! Well, that didn't sit well with Debbie at all! She proved everyone wrong!

Debbie is excited to share her story of defeat and success with each of you!

All are welcome to attend this event! Pass this invitation along to colleagues and friends who would enjoy getting together to share ideas, reflect on their shared experiences and have a few laughs. Details and registration information appears at right. Hope to see you there!
